

MAGNA PUBLISHES THE BOOK ON COMBATING THE SPREAD OF COVID-19 PANDEMIC.

The contents of the book Combating the Spread of Covid-19 involve the usage of some scientific jargons, but every term is explained thoroughly. As long you are willing to learn, you find this guide helpful even if you do not have a background in chemistry or biology.

The purpose for publication of this book is fourfold:

First, it is to compile all the published journals for Legionella-X from different publication platforms into a single book for ease of reference.

Second, it facilitates the ease of tracing of previous works about containing the spread of Covid-19 Pandemic.

Third, it compiles all the tests and tests standard used for Legionella-X carried out into one book for quick reference by researchers, healthcare workers and readers.

Fourth, as part of the contribution to society at large, it will be made available to major institutions, libraries, universities free-of-charge in September 2020.
